

Top news of the month

Sushir Kumar finishes the year ranked No. 1 in Category B, South Zone. We wish him the best as he moves to the Nationals in the new year.

Our coaching team from TSG, Clover Greens and our partner fitters from Tour Tech, find their way to a learning conference by world renowned coaches of 19 Major winners, Terry Rowles and Mike Adams.

tips from us

A systematic approach to training should be the only way. Why?

NO GUESSWORK

A systematic approach ensures a consistent and structured progression by golfers because there is no guesswork in the strategies employed for technical improvement.

ONE LANGUAGE

Communication between coaches and players is also easier as the language spoken has a clear framework.

HOLISTIC DEVELOPMENT

This approach allows for a comprehensive development of the mental, technical and strategic skills. It allows the player to develop an all round game and be competitive.

"The mind, once stretched by a new idea, never returns to its old dimensions." ~ Ralph Waldo Emerson

question for you

Are you backed by a team that refuses to stop learning and bettering themselves in order to help you reach your potential?

Tarun Sardesai
Director of Instruction

First and foremost...

I have always had a penchant for learning and am always excited when there are opportunities to learn and become better at my craft.

The team had a great opportunity to meet with Terry Rowles and Mike Adam's in Bangkok and learn one of the best systems of training. As Terry very aptly put it we are going to stand on "more solid ground" when we teach our players now. It was an eye opening 3 days and the entire team has come back with renewed energy and knowledge to take into the new year.

Seasons Greetings!
